

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A method and a device for measuring dimensions of gaps and hollow spaces in motor vehicle body construction use a filler element which is introduced in a gap or a hollow space to be measured. The filler element is coupled to an ultrasonic testing device for accurately and consistently measuring the gap or hollow space.

MB/tk